Matlab TAH License Renewed

Our Total Academic Headcount (site license) for Matlab has been renewed until Sep 2016. Brandeis students, faculty and staff can continue to use Matlab and install copies on any computers they own.

For guidelines, see Obtaining Matlab (login required). The methods for installing depend on how you will obtain a license, which varies depending on if your computer stays on campus or if it travels, and if your computer that travels is owned by the university or by a student.

I will update the network concurrent license server Monday morning Jul 27 at 6 am to avoid interfering with data acquisition. If that time causes problems, let me know.

There are a couple of additions to the TAH license for the coming year. Use of

- Computer Vision System Toolbox
- MATLAB Compiler

will now be covered under the TAH license.
